New book: Bustler class rescue tugs in war and peace - 20% exclusive discount to our readers

This book tells the story of the small force of much-needed rescue tugs that were built in Britain during the dark forbidding days of the Second World War. The 'Bustlers' were the biggest, most powerful, most modern and fastest of these. They served for a long time not only in the British Navy but also after sale to commercial operators. Readers of TugeZine are entitled to a 20% discount. An extensive review will be published in the next issue of TugeZine but for those of you who cannot wait the ordering information and how to claim your discount can be found below.
